BWC Model

I spend less time completing paperwork
with a BWC

My accounts of incidents are more accurate with a BWC

Evidence quality is better
with a BWC

The training I received on the technology was adequate	The training I received on the SO was adequate	Please indicate what you believe to be the STRENGTHS of wearing a BWC.	Please indicate what you believe to be the WEAKNESSES of wearing a BWC.
2	2 I believe that the vast majority of officers perform their job with a high level of integrity and professionalism. Cameras will, more often than not, clear allegations against officers and lessen the amount of complaints made by citizens.	I believe cameras scare officers away from performing self initiated activity, only because they are not familiar with them. I think it will only become a matter of time for officers to become comfortable wearing them.
3	4 Evidence preservation, scene documentation, assisting an officer with recalling events.	Officers will be hesitant to conduct their normal activities. Discretion will be limited.
3	3 Unknown	Unknown
5	5 Haven't worn one yet
3	3 none	seatbelt issues
5	5 I do believe the body camera can protect officers involved in citizen complaints.	Officers will be apprehensive toward getting involved in self initiated activity.

2	2 Can provide immediate feedback/insights on use of force situations to understand why the officer acted as they did. Can disprove allegations of wrong doing. Can prove wrong doings of suspects.	Can be used against officers for using discretion (drinking in public, BWs, other City ordinance violations, etc.) Can be used against officers for mistakes. In other words, malicious mistakes vs. unintentional/non-malicious mistakes. I'm short. Wearing it mid-torso & up is not going to help see someone or something up close! Field of view will not be beneficial.
2	3 Evidence for prosecution.	Creating an expectation for video on every arrest and incident, that becomes controversial. When video is absent the media/citizens/jurors/circuit attorneys office will be more critical of an incident when there is no reason to justify not believing the Officers account.
2	2 I believe the body camera will be able to capture events that are of evidentiary value and will provide the Circuit Attorney's Office with footage that corroborates the Officer's version of events.	One of my initial concerns is that Officers will feel like they do not have the same level of discretion to issue warnings and will feel like they are required to issue a ticket, a summons, or make an arrest for every minor infraction of the law.

5	5 Evidence review/testimony/reports	Officers second guessing themselves. Worrying about camera angles reduces safety. Less self initiated activity due to fear of disciplinary action.
1	4 Detailed accounts of events will be extremely accurate. Officers can review footage prior to writing a report to ensure accuracy.	I believe that morale across the entire department will be negatively affected. I believe that officers are going to be too afraid of making a mistake to effectively do their job.
4	4 I think the BWC improves accountability and transparency. I think it improves community relations.	I believe that various privacy issues are inherent in BWC.
2	3 At this time I do not know of any.	Officer's Discretion.
2	3 This department has yet to wear the body camera.	This department has yet to wear the body camera.
3	3 I have not worn the BWC yet, so I do not have an opinion at this time.	I have not worn the BWC yet, so I do not have an opinion at this time.

3 3 It is unknown what the possible strengths could be prior to utilizing the equipment. I am concerned about officer safety and reactions to the camera being in use. I am also concerned about the resulting stress the cameras may place on individual officers as it pertains to completing otherwise normal tasks.

4 4 I do not know at this time. I do not know at this time.

4 2 IAD complaints

3 3 I have not worn the BWC yet I have not worn the BWC at this time and do not have an opinion at this time

3 3 the video will leave less doubt about what a suspect says and how he acts. the cameras will take discretion out of the officers hands.

4 4 A BWC has the potential to thwart or discredit unwarranted complaints against officers. During the execution of search warrants, recording sensitive information that will become accessible to the public and pose a tactical threat to officers is a tremendous liability I am concerned about.

2	3 Being able to prove or disprove citizen complaints.	Limit of officer discretion.
3	3 None	Officers might hesitate to act and second guess themselves causing a safety issue.
4	4 None	None
2	2 The only strength about the flex is that you can wear it on personal glasses. It moves a bit, but not terribly. A bit cyborg, but it works.	Functionality while wearing the flex. I am smaller framed so most everything is close together. The piece that goes around the neck & magnets are cumbersome to me. Frankensteinish also! I changed it to the epilate and that was ok, but realized if I put my coat on, it won't work. Put it back on the collar w/o the neck piece. Better, less cumbersome, but also realized that w a coat on that it will get covered up. This will also apply to the people wearing the body cam. There is no place to put the device on outerwear. I would like to suggest Taser look into wireless connections between the camera and pack on
3	4 CYA	Misinterpretation

3 3 BWCs should assist users with recalling events. Officers will feel there is no discretion with BWCs.

5 5 Increase report accuracy and testimony of officers. Can de-escalate situations. Makes officers second guess themselves which greatly decreases officer safety in life and death situations wherein a delay in making decisions due to fear of reprisals could cost a life. Worrying about the camera angle and if its capturing the incident in another distraction that decreases officer safety.

- 2 3 It can be used to capture the demeanor of a suspect at a scene and any statements he/she is making. As a Sergeant, the camera creates a discomfort and distraction among the officers. The camera hinders my ability to perform my role as a supervisor when interacting with the officers. Some questions I would normally ask, to assess what needs to be addressed at a scene, I hesitate to ask, in order not to jeopardize the investigation or identify confidential information.
- I feel that the use of the camera can create patterns that will be used by defense attorneys to defend their clients. For example, if I were to conduct ten car stops for traffic and not
- 5 5 I believe the strengths are that officers will be more careful and cautious in their actions and safety tactics when a BWC is present. I feel that I am paying more attention to what the camera is or is not recording instead of concentrating on the events occurring during my stop or investigation. It feels unnatural and I am constantly thinking of what I may do or say is not approved by individuals who are not accustomed to dealing with potential violent suspects on the street.

2	2 recording of events accurately	using safe tactics when operating the camera
3	3 decrease citizens false allegations on officers	makes officers hesitant
2	2 A camera depicts the actual, and true events that took place on a scene. Often, Officers are given several conflicting statements by parties during a call, and the camera will show the actual events and record the true statements. This is good; however it may hinder an Officer and their use of discretion.	Officers tend to be more hesitant to use discretion with a camera on scene.
2	2 I believe the body camera has the potential to be a useful tool in corroborating Officers' statements at the Circuit Attorney's Office and later a trial.	The camera can be a little cumbersome, due to the fact that there are two separate components that have to be connected with a wire.
3	3 There are multiple uses for the body cameras based on the type of body camera.	N/A

3	4 The BWC allowed me to record a victim's injuries and statement in a serious felony case. The BWC may have painted a more complete picture of the scene, the victim, and his statement, than a still camera could have in this particular instance.	Much like the process for seizing video from an in-car camera, the method for saving BWC footage is cumbersome and time consuming. Additionally, the BWC emits two loud beeps every so often while the device is recording. While I welcome the friendly reminder the device is recording, the audio alert can represent a serious officer safety issue. For example, when conducting a building search or a similar task, broadcasting the location of an officer is a serious safety concern.
2	2 More detailed account of events by officers.	Negative effects on morale, officers will hesitate to make decisions believing that they will be questioned on everything they do.
3	3 None so far.	The BWC is in the way on my uniform. There needs to be a way to clip the BWC on the outer garments.

3 The strengths, as I have experienced, are that while at scenes we can capture most individuals in the crowds (for identification later, if needed) and document scenes with the camera without having to hold anything in our hands. The main weakness, as I have experienced, is that this piece of equipment is not well received by other members of this department and has created a sense of paranoia.

2 They do depict an accurate assessment of a situation. I have found citizens do not necessarily like being on camera and they seem to think first before making their own statements. I have a fear that cameras will cause hesitation for an officer when the use of force is necessary. I would hate to see it become an officer safety issue.

2	2 The strength of this program lies in the fact that erroneous / false citizen complaints can be stopped at the onset.	It creates a distraction to the officer. Instead of thinking about the task at hand (safety etc.), they are more focused on the camera. That distraction creates a substantial risk of officer safety.

4	4 Wearing of body cameras allows for a more complete statement from witnesses and victims to be obtained and incorporated into police reports.	Citizens might be more reluctant to talk to officers wearing the device.

2	2 I believe that body cameras have the potential to record video of arrests, which Officers will be able to use later to corroborate their version of events.	Officers already do not have a lot of extra room on their duty belts and on their persons to store extra equipment. This particular model has two components (the battery pack and the camera), which must be connected with the use of a wire. This makes the wearing of the camera somewhat cumbersome and the wire connecting the two components will sometimes get in the Officer's way.
4	4 The strengths of wearing the camera would be having documented video evidence to support the officer's account of events when disputed by other persons.	Wearing the body camera makes me feel very self conscience of what I am doing and what I can say. It does not feel natural. I don't feel as if I can be myself that I will always be judged on every little thing I do or say. I feel it is a hindrance.
3	4 Being able to capture evidence.	Second guessing of decisions during a crises event

2 The strength would be if someone were to make a false complaint against you, it may or may not help you. Having the camera strapped to my head with the wire is a distraction. I often find myself adjusting the camera wire as I move so it does not tug and change the direction of the camera. I also do not like that I have to take my eyes off of the target of my investigation as I approach so that I can activate the camera. Also the device around my head gives me a headache at times.

4 5 Better courtroom testimony. Officer safety due to fear of reprisal.

3 Evidentiary values could be good but it is too soon to tell. In addition, the CAO has become increasingly more difficult to deal with in regards to issuing cases. As shown with the initial usage of vehicle mounted cameras, there have been numerous instances where officers failed to act appropriately to save their lives in instances of lethal force. Based on that, coupled with the more increasingly biased charging of police officers by courts to appease a small percentage of people, the cons seriously outweigh the pros for me.

2 It is easier to recall the specific details of events that you were a part of. The flex system specifically is too complex. On several occasions the cable has disconnected from the unit by simply sitting in my vehicle or exiting. It also has police officers scared to make decisions as freely as they would have before and as a result I feel that Officer safety is compromised.

2	2 Easy to operate once you figure out the sequence of how to turn it on and off.	I find myself checking if its on or not throughout my shift. I'm having difficulty with turning it on and off. Press twice to turn on and once and hold to turn off etc. I guess its user error. Wasn't sure if it was recording when I first pressed the button.
3	4 Camera got wet in continuous ran - wiped off and seems to function well.	none
3	3 I think a camera will help you recall specific actions you took at the scene and help you to recall why you took those actions.	I think you may tend to second guess your decisions or hesitate to use force which could have very deadly consequences.

4	3 The cameras seem to work well when interviewing suspects. I believe they will prove useful when locking a victim of domestic violence in to a statement.	The Evidence.com interface is not user friendly for a multitude of reasons. First, when logging in the user is presented with all the entries for the camera. Not only does the software automatically divide recordings into ~30 minute segments, the time is not stamped in Central Standard Time. These factors make the task of determining what footage is what difficult, especially when several scenes have been recorded before being docked. Additionally, after wading through all of the footage, two to three separate steps must be taken to classify the footage. Not efficient.
3	3 Officers will be more courteous	Officers will be hesitant to use force

2 2 I believe the body camera has the potential to record video footage of Officers' interactions with suspects during criminal investigations and arrests. This footage can then be used to corroborate the Officers' version of events during the warrant application process and during court proceedings.

The wire that connects the battery pack to the camera is cumbersome and can potentially interfere with Officers during the performance of their duties. I've also noticed that the wire sometimes disconnected from the battery pack, when I'm entering our exiting my police vehicle. Although this has not been an issue as of yet, I'm concerned that the wire will break and/or the camera will be dislodged during a physical altercation with a suspect.

3 3 The BWC allows you to document scenes and the people there while keeping your hands free.

It draws a lot of attention from citizens to other police personnel, which can draw your attention away from other duties.

2 2 It can assist with nullifying a false complaint.

The flex camera does not flip its orientation, so the video will be upside down.

3 4 Officers are starting to ask questions about the camera and becoming more comfortable with them. I have shown several officers how it works and the video, they are interested. Few negative comments. No weakness in wearing.

4	4 The strengths would be that overall it is a quality device and definitely captures solid recordings of events. The picture and audio quality is very good. It is easy to download and can enhance the strength of the officer's overall case.	In a busy district it can become very time consuming. As sergeants, we have an overwhelming amount to do. Now this just adds to it. Often I have to stop what I am doing to dock the camera and down load the video. I must also remember to document it in the report. It does not seem like a lot but when you add it to every thing else, it becomes a burden.

Please generally describe your experience wearing the BWC during the pilot period. Please list any changes to the proposed policy/SO you would make. Please list any other information you believe is relevant to this pilot program.

I have not yet worn the camera. The pilot program begins on Monday. N/A N/A

I haven't had any experience wearing a body camera yet. I don't have enough information to weigh in on this question yet. N/A n/a Just got the SO today haven't had a chance to read it. I don't understand why we have been instructed to complete this survey prior to the start of the pilot. The survey is clearly for Officers who have used the BWC.

Unknown Unknown Unknown

I have not worn the device yet. I have not been provided the Special Oder as of this writing. I have not started the program yet.

N/A

Things to consider:
juveniles
are we to record
conversations w/officers when determining charges, asking questions, obtaining more information or clarifying? that could bugger things up a bit.

Officer's actions are also based upon experience,
training and intuition.
The camera although able to pick up the audio/visual, does not have that ability. This needs to be considered when reviewing BWC
recordings.

None

I think that advising people that they are being recorded will only provoke and incite them.
People like to be the center of attention, ie
"World Star Hip Hop" channel.

I have not worn the body camera yet. The pilot program has not begun.

I believe the current Speical Order is very thorough and detailed. I would not make any changes at this time.

N/A

N/A has not started. SO not discussed at all in N/A any training whatsoever. Complete lack of training on the goals and expectations of the command staff.

I have not yet received my camera.

I have not had an opportunity to wear the BWC yet. I do not have any suggestions at this time. I have nothing to add.

N/A N/A N/A

This department has yet to wear the body camera.

At the time of this writing, I do not have any experience wearing the BWC. Therefore, I can not accurately describe my experience.

At this time, I do not have any suggested changes.

I have no additional information that is relevant at this time.

We have not begun wearing the camera yet, but I believe they are not the answer for the future of policing, they are a Band-Aid for a bad situation made worse by political interference.

For me, as a supervisor, the order seems fine for normal patrol operations. As a supervisor in a specialized unit, should the cameras become mandated for officers, I would want to make some serious changes and/or additions to protect against certain types of investigations while being deployed.

I feel the "wait and see" comments made by the Chief during the presentation to be extremely dangerous way of looking at things as it regards to possible litigation involving members of this department. I feel we are opening ourselves up to frivolous lawsuits just to appease the loud majority who think they want these cameras in use.

I have just started so I don't know.

I have tested it to ensure the instructions for operating the unit are correct, and to see for myself the quality of video and audio recording.

I would rethink requiring SWAT members to record while executing search warrants. Recording the tactics employed can result in individuals with nefarious intentions obtaining footage via sunshine requests and planning their activities accordingly, ultimately putting officers and the public at risk.

Today will be first day. Unsure at this time. Not quite sure how this will work but oh well.....

not worn na

The camera seems easy to use.

None at this time. Perhaps allow discretion to deactivate the camera when speaking with attorneys or writing down sensitive information, such as police officer's phone numbers.

The mounting system for the body-mounted camera doesn't allow for the device to be mounted on a coat or jacket. This is an issue because it's cold outside.

The battery life on standby flashed at 40% after only 4 hours on stand by. To be clear, the camera was not turned on at all. This is contrary to the 12 hours of battery life advertised by the company. After recharging and seeing a solid yellow on the previous shift, the Flex cam was a solid red on today's date- not blinking. Also, the 70 degree field of view is inadequate to capture relevant events when worn on your collar and blading your body.

None at this time.

Also, the flex camera cord is too long and gets tangled among the other numerous items on my duty belt. When worn on the collar, both magnets interfere with using the phone, both the land line as well as the cell phone. This decreases productivity as you can not type or write easily when on the phone.

I find the device to be uncomfortable and creates a distrust among everyone I come in contact with who does not wish to be recorded. Even when the device is not recording.

The use of the Camera should be voluntary and at the discretion of the officer.

I think it would be beneficial to make the "Flex" have a red light (similar to when charging) that remains lit when recording so everyone is well aware that it is recording.

It definitely takes some time to get use to. I don't feel natural. I feel like I am acting and am apprehensive to do any thing outside of the box when it comes to interviewing or interrogating suspects.

none as of yet

There needs to be more hands on training before the department places a camera on an officer. None of the downloading or identifying the videos was explained or demonstrated.

I have to remember to turn the camera on use the video as the narrative for a report

BWC was a little cumbersome none

The camera has not seemed to affect my job or my Officers job. I demand my Officers act professionally at all times and work with a high level of ethics.

N/A

The general consensus from the public I have received is not all positive. I have found several people on calls and in passing that have asked about the camera. Several citizens on calls have told me they do not like being filmed.

The body worn camera has operated satisfactorily thus far. None

N/A

Because I had lasik surgery a few years ago, I don't like wearing the FLEX glasses/camera at night. I think the Body Flex would be good for everyday use and the Flex would be good for Tactical use.

N/A

It is difficult to remove the camera from the holder. The holders are awkward to attach to your uniform.	Where in a domestic incident, when you only have the victim, can you indicate that video was taken and seized as evidence.	There should be more classifications of incidents.
The blinking light bothered me (night watch). The sound cut out during the video. The wind is very loud in the background. My placement of the camera cut off the heads of people in the video.	n/a	I don't like wearing the camera.
None I do not like the mounts provided for the camera and the cord is too long. It tangles with my other equipment.	None None	None
My experience with the BWC has been limited, therefore, I do not have a comment at this point.	For the purpose of the pilot program, I would suggest that the SO should have been written for the Sgt.'s not PO's.	I have no comment at this time.
I ran into an issue with the basic recording operations which caused me to have to contact the IT personnel for a one on one briefing.	Still deciding.	More training needs to be given on the use of the cameras. We were given a brief "how to" class then were instructed that the use would begin within a week later which is definitely NOT enough time to work out what ever user errors which may occur.
None	None	None

Another concern regarding the chest-worn camera is that everything I write in my notebook is recorded, including sensitive information such as other officer's telephone numbers. This situation should be addressed in subsequent training and steps should be taken and taught on how to prevent this from occurring.

Specifically prohibiting the recording of officer/attorney communications would be prudent.

Minimal during the first week due to administrative duties. None

It is extremely difficult to get the BWC out of the carrying clip. I attempted to stop recording and the device did not respond. I had to power it off to end a recording.

I would not require Sergeants to wear this.

It will be a problem for Officers to upload the information on line for every recording at the end of their shift.

Thus far, my experience with the BWC has been ok.

I do not have any suggested changes at this point in time.

I have no further comment at this time.

I have found they are easy to operate and wear.

Na

It is difficult to be ostracized by the very people you trust your life with on a daily basis. Officers feel uncomfortable talking to you while it is recording.

There needs to be more leeway / discretion when recording. Example: On a scene where there are multiple locations. It is silly to keep the device on when moving from one location to another, but by SO, the camera must remain on once started. Impractical. Example #2: On a scene where officers have completed their initial investigation and are waiting for a specialized unit. At that point, there is no reason to have it on unless the scene or investigation is still active.

I noticed that while making phone calls on my personal cell for work purposes, that the camera may be picking up numbers on my cell etc. I find that to be disturbing and do not wish my personal numbers on a recording. Furthermore, if I receive a personal call while the device is recording, it will record even the briefest moments of that call and possibly pick up the caller ID. I do not like that.

I think the FLEX is too bulky. I would prefer to wear the Body Flex regularly and save the Flex for tactical operations

N/A

It is definitely an adjustment. You hear commanders say, "The cameras are here to stay so you better get use to them". Well, in my experience so far that is easier said than done. I believe commanders need to experience wearing the camera while performing street patrol and supervision because I believe it definitely effects the officer's street presence.

none at this time

It is still very early in the program. Only time will tell.

Problematic. The cord connecting the camera to battery pack kept pulling the aim of the camera in other directions

None at this time

From reviewing the videos, I find it interesting since I wear the (FLEX) model how often I take my focus off the subject I am investigating and constantly scan the area for other threats. I am accustomed to doing this and am able to listen and use my peripheral vision to still maintain control and observation of the subject. I often look toward the ground (which appears funny on the video) but I do this more to create a relaxed interaction while cuing into the subjects body language and voice changes.

I think the best way to implement this program would be to allow the officer to use the camera when they feel it may be beneficial and use it on a voluntary basis. After it saves a few police officers or captures some really helpful video the officers perceptions may change.

The Flex may not be the best choice for the officers due to the numerous plastic pieces that I feel over the course of time will break or be lost. I think a wireless camera would also be helpful.

The Flex camera was broken and I had several days off so I was unable to utilize the camera this week.

None at this time.

Nothing at this time.

So far, I have only had the camera during one instance and it appears to have worked. There was no issue with turning it on or recording the series of events. I saw nothing that indicates that wearing the camera increased officer safety or citizen compliance.

I would definitely make changes should the camera be forced on police officers assigned to the Special Operations Unit. I would like to see more protections in regards to undercover activities and intelligence based policing activities.

Currently, it serves no purpose for Sergeants to be wearing these cameras. The usual response times for sergeants to any scene is delayed and I feel there can't possibly be any benefits from them.

The camera does not stay pointed in the correct direction and the cable easily disengages by making minimal movements. I believe that the system itself is a strong point in that it provides good video and the downloading seems to be fairly easy to do.

None

So far the camera seems to be working properly. Just easier to turn on and off. One push for on one push off. I feel the one unit body cam is the most practical. The flex may have too many wires and parts for the day to day use. Too many items to put on at the beginning of shift and keep track of when turning into the desk for the next shift.

Can get wet. x If this is a anonymous survey why do we have to put assignment, DSN, age, service, etc... DSN is a dead give away.

I have not found a lot of use in wearing a camera as a supervisor, however, when I conduct pedestrian checks or vehicle stops it can serve its purpose. I do find my self distracted by the camera. I think Officer Discretion needs to be addressed in the Special Order if possible. Otherwise anyone with a bench warrant needs to be arrested every time and tickets need issued on every stop. I was assigned to Details all week long and did not find any opportunities to activate the camera.

When interviewing suspects I really don't want them to know they're being recorded unless I tell them. The annoyingly loud beep not only alerts the suspect to the fact they are indeed being recorded, it serves as a constant reminder to the suspect throughout the course of the interview. This concern may represent a deterrent to an effective interrogation.

If the program is instituted Department-wide, Officers should be able to submit evidence requests and classify evidence themselves.

Thumbnails, perhaps at the one minute mark next to the video listing in Evidence.com, would be extraordinarily useful in aiding the user when he/she is attempting to locate a pertinent video clip. Furthermore, the existing drop-down categories are insufficient for our needs. At a minimum, the following categories should be added:

- Building Search
- Search Warrant
- Pedestrian Check (28)
- Holdover Interaction
- Victim Interview
- Suspect
- Interview/Interrogation
- Scene Documentation

I accidentally took the camera home over night. It was turned off and the batter lasted fine during the next shift.

Officers are concerned if they have to have it on all the time and if not, what happens if they are wearing it but forget to turn it on.

Give better categories for the video. I took video to a possible child abuse case. Put Category of OTHER because nothing else fits. Filled out a request to attach as evidence. CN 16-177.
